

FLOOD DEATHS IN FIVE STATES NEARING FORTY

PROPERTY AND CROP DAMAGE $5,000,000

Situation Is Growing Worse In Several Sections

Denver, June 1.—(P)—The flood death toll neared 40 tonight in Colorado, Wyoming, Texas, Kansas and Missouri.

The missing exceeded 200 and many of them were believed dead. Property and crop damage estimates ranged upward from a conservative $5,000,000.

At least 24 persons were dead in Colorado and Wyoming. Texas had seven, Kansas four and Missouri one.

In places the flood situation, created by month-long rains, grew worse hourly. One body was recovered, three others were believed drowned and 15 were missing in Cheyenne county, Kansas, and across the state line in northeastern Colorado. That sector was covered by swollen waters of the Republican river which devastated South Central Nebraska.

Ottawa, Kas., received weather bureau warnings to be ready for a severe flood with the Marais des Cygnes river rising rapidly.

Rescue workers who succeeded in reaching O'Hama, Tex., 45 miles west of San Antonio, found that floods there yesterday had drowned four children, rendered the community's 250 residents homeless, dashed to pieces more than 40 homes and caused livestock losses.

Other rescue workers hurried southward from Denver to Elbert and Kiowa where at least seven persons drowned. At Elbert, a community of 250, there were no homes left standing. Many families took refuge in churches.

Most of the business section was wrecked.

Officials at Colorado Springs listed flood damage within city at $1,000,000. Pueblo counted its damages at more than $1,000,000.

In Pueblo county, Colorado, authorities estimated damages of at least one million. Another million in damages was dealt Colorado highways. C. D. Vall, state highway engineer said.

Damages piled up in Texas where yesterday estimates of flood and wind damages for the spring were placed in excess of $5,000,000.

ESSAY CONTEST

Springfield, Ill., June 1.—(P)—Governor Horner's committee on citizenship and naturalization today announced the essay contest for high school students on "the benefits of American citizenship" will become an annual affair.

The committee said in its report the contest for the past year was successful and November 7 would be the deadline for the next contest. State winners will be presented medals by Governor Horner.

Tent City Houses Pioneers Building Alaska Homes

Housing the 500 midwest families colonizing the Matanuska valley in Alaska, this tent city teems with activity as the pioneers, aided by details of transient workers, build their homes, clear the timber, and prepare the land for their first crop next year. Soaring back of the picturesque town of Canby are the snow-capped of the Chugach mountain range, a vivid contrast to the fertile valley where the sun now shines until nearly midnight.

CALENDARS OF LEGISLATURE ARE CLOGGED

Assembly To Remain In Continuous Session

By Milburn B. Akers.
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Springfield, Ill., June 1.—(P)—With but a month left in which to conclude its work, the General Assembly, its calendars clogged and its commitments heavy, stands at an advance of bills, will probably remain in almost continuous session during June.

Four, five and even six day weeks are the customary practice in the month preceding the adjournment, with morning, afternoon and evening sessions taken for granted.

In the five months since the assembly convened it has passed more than 1,500 bills which have been introduced, 1,000 of which originated in the House and the remainder in the Senate.

Many of the bills will not get out of the committees to which they were sent; others have been killed or will die on the calendar when adjournment takes place.

In the lot, however, are many of the essential appropriation bills, a batch of measures requested by the federal government in connection with its recovery program, the proposed insurance code and the suggested revision of the criminal code, as well as numerous other measures for which a determined drive will be made before adjournment.

The usual lethargic pace of the assembly was slowed down by the long drawn out fight over the sales tax relief bills and the filibuster staged by Republican House members for the permanent registration measures.

Convening early in January, a regular session of the assembly.

Judge John Small Dies Saturday At Kankakee

Was Brother Of Len Small Former Governor Of Illinois

Kankakee, Ill., June 1.—(P)—Judge John Small, 78, only brother of former Governor Len Small, died here today. He was a former county and circuit judge, presiding in Kankakee, Will and Iroquois counties.

Judge Small was the oldest active member of the Kankakee bar. The funeral will be held here at 3 P. M. Monday.

General debility and his advanced age were given as the causes of death. His health began to fail a month ago and for the past two weeks he had been confined to his bed.

An attorney for more than 40 years, Judge Small was elected to the county bench in 1894 where he served until 1897, being elected at that time to the circuit bench. Prior to his judgeship he served three terms as a Master in Chancery.

Surviving in addition to former Governor Small are the widow, Mrs. Claribel Small, and two sisters, Mrs. Calista Humrichouse of Kankakee, and Mrs. Mabel McKinstry of Ellettsville, Ind.

RECEIVE RELIEF FUNDS

Tuscola, Ill., June 1.—(P)—Receipt of $19,704, the relief allotment for June, was announced today by the Douglas county relief committee. Although 723 families are now carried on the relief rolls, Mrs. Hortense DePore, case supervisor, said this number would be reduced as soon as farm work, delayed by wet weather, becomes normal.

Grass Roots Convention to Be Held in Amphitheater to Accommodate 20,000

Springfield, Ill., June 1.—(P)—Grass roots promoters today said the constitutionally issue, growing out of the NRA decision, has increased interest in the midwestern Republican convention here to the point where new arrangements may be necessary in handling growing delegations.

Under consideration is a plan to transfer the June 10 and 11 convention from the Illinois fairgrounds, where 20,000 delegates could be seated in the open air.

Republican spokesmen declared President Roosevelt's designation with the supreme court's NRA decision is reflected in the requests to send larger delegations to the G. O. P. assembly near the tomb of Abraham Lincoln.

"The serious attitude of the nation toward correcting economic conditions on constitutional lines, rather than by approaches to dictatorship, is being demonstrated as Republicans ask the opportunity to attend the midwestern conference," said Justice L. Johnson, Illinois state chairman.

The Republican party never showed signs of greater vitality, delegates for participation here far exceed our expectations.

Because several states have sent word that their delegations are being increased, it apparently will be impossible to seat all Republicans with official "grass roots" credentials in the coliseum.

The delayed arrival of Harrison E. Spaulding of Iowa, chairman of the time-state group that called the meeting at the scene of the Lincoln Shrine here, is being awaited before final plans are announced.

Spaulding, who is expected in Springfield by Monday, will be given the decision as to whether the coliseum plans should be abandoned, with the convention moved to the larger but mostly unprotected grandstand.

The coliseum, the only large hall in the Illinois capital, cannot hold more than 6,000 delegates after space is provided for party officials and newspapermen.

At least 20,000 could be accommodated in the amphitheater, which is only partly covered by a roof. Moving the convention there would be taking a chance with weather conditions at a time when central Illinois has had almost daily rains for several weeks.

The amphitheater has been used for many political gatherings in Springfield, including the "Governor's Day" at the State Fair and Postmaster General Farley's speech here last year.

Jacob D. Allen of Chicago, convention secretary, has been informed that many of the nine participating states—Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Wisconsin—will send larger delegations than were originally planned for.

Indiana, for example, has increased its delegation from 350 to 600 and in addition has promised 2,000 more as visitors.

Even if the accredited delegations are crowded into the coliseum, the "alternates" and visitors must listen to speeches by loudspeakers placed at the amphitheater and elsewhere in the fairgrounds.

Spaulding is to ask former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois to sit on the resolutions committee when it starts to draw up a statement of Republican principles next week.

Allen said that at least half of the states will be represented by Republican "observers" at the midwestern deliberations on 1936 campaign issues.

Local committees have guaranteed to provide housing, accommodations for 18,000 persons in hotel and rooming houses. To provide for others, special Pullman trains and hotels in nearby cities will be used. And delegation of young Republicans are investigating the possibility of quartering themselves in tourist camps.

MINE WORKERS CALL STRIKE FOR JUNE 16

450,000 Coal Diggers Ordered To Quit Shafts

By Joseph L. Miller
Washington, June 1.—(P)—The United Mine Workers of America today ordered 450,000 soft coal miners to quit work June 17 unless otherwise notified.

This sweeping command, possibly forestalling one of the largest strikes of the nation's history, was issued as Secretary Perkins sought to restore by the interstate compact method some of the industrial practices stripped of federal enforcement by the supreme court's NRA decision.

Mass Perkins summoned to Washington next Tuesday representatives of the Northeastern industrial states to consider uniform state legislation to maintain some code industrial standards.

Minimum wages, maximum hours, child labor and night work were some of the fields the conference will canvass. Compacts adopted by the conference would be submitted to state legislatures for ratification or rejection.

Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Maine, Vermont, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania were asked to send representatives.

The union strike order counseled the miners to obey the law and not to disturb the public peace. But tersely the leaders directed all members except maintenance men to refrain from entering the mines.

John L. Lewis, union president, said enactment of the Guffey coal stabilization bill to create a "little NRA" for the industry, would stop the strike.

With the zero hour only two weeks away, operators favoring the bill completed the amendments they saw as necessary. Charles O'Neill, Central Pennsylvania producer, submitted them today to the union. If satisfactory to the miners, they will be introduced in the senate by Senator Guffey (D-Pa.).

The operators' amendments would remove the provisions of the original bill for federal purchase of marginal coal lands and production allocation. They also would revise the method of determining coal prices, and the operators say—make the measure constitutional in the light of the supreme court's decision wiping out NRA codes.

American Federation of Labor officials, meanwhile, continued to insist that a new NRA must be created immediately, despite reports that President Roosevelt would not push through "stop-gap" legislation.

Repeatedly the King of Kings and the conquering lion of Judah has appealed his controversy with Benito Mussolini to the League of Nations, citing the thousands upon thousands of armed men if Duce has thrown into East Africa and urged prompt action for settlement without recourse to warfare.

Now the quarrel, arising out of border incidents last year and early this year, is in the hands of conciliators, though Mussolini has warned Italy not to expect too much from that procedure.

War if it comes, will not come before September when the rainy season ends. Military observers agree, and Haile Selassie is spending the intervening months whipping his military machine into tip-top condition.

One hundred thousand men, say dispatches from Rome and Addis Ababa, have been moved up to the front. They are described as fairly well-equipped, well-armed, their communications and supply facilities in good order.

Unlike the Ethiopian army of 1896, which inflicted upon an invading Italian force an overwhelming defeat that still rankles in Rome, Haile Selassie's soldiers today have wireless and airplane communications instead of barefooted runners, modern rifles and machine-guns instead of spears and ancient firearms.

Estimates vary as to how many men the Emperor could throw into the field. The Ethiopian charge d'affaires in Rome placed the figure at 800,000. Foreign observers say that is too high, asserting that the Ethiopian army could muster no more than 150,000, of which few would be trained.

Hold Suspect In Murder Case

Mt. Vernon, Ill., June 1.—(P)—Herman Braddock, 27, of Wayne county, was held in the Jefferson county jail here today on charges growing out of the slaying and robbery of Rosier Green, Blufford farmer on December 8, 1933, a crime for which five men are now serving sentences in the penitentiary.

Braddock was the son-in-law of the slain farmer and administrator of his estate. Braddock's wife, officials said, was the sole heir of the estate inheriting more than one thousand dollars which was found buried on the 40 acre farm of her father.

FIRES FLARE IN RUINS OF QUETTA, CITY OF DEATH

Man Carried On Bumper Of Car; Burned To Death

Joliet, Ill., June 1.—(P)—His clothes blazing, Harry B. Maxwell, 48, was carried on the bumper of a truck for a block down one of the main streets today. When the truck was stopped he was dead, his clothing burned away.

Maxwell had run out of gasoline and gone to the nearby garage of Charles Drost and bought fuel. As he was pouring it into his car a heavy truck, belonging to the Peoria Cattle Co., running past, started. Sparks flew and the gasoline was ignited. Maxwell was knocked onto the truck's bumper. His clothes after, he was carried almost a block before Henry Olson, driver, could bring his truck to a stop.

Olson told deputy coroner Willard Blood that bright lights on an oncoming car had so blinded him that he did not see Maxwell's car until too late.

Doctors, nurses and medical equipment were being rushed here by airplanes after most of the fear-stricken, scantily-clad survivors spent another night under the open sky, shying away from shelters erected by soldiers.

Fires flaring in the ruins of this city of death, devastated by earthquakes at a loss of life estimated at 30,000, burned themselves out today, but authorities feared an outbreak of cholera.

The flames, fanned by hot winds from the hills, ate through the ruins while rescuers, exhausted after nearly two days of interrupted effort, worked frantically to free the thousands believed still held under wreckage.

It was believed the debris holding their prisoner would be funeral pyres for many.

Water rushed from great fissures in the earth opened by the three great shocks that struck about 3 a. m. yesterday, laying waste Quetta and its vicinity, and some places in the outskirts of the city were flooded several feet deep.

With the danger of an epidemic before them, soldiers and relief workers were burning or burying bodies as fast as they were found, many of them not even identified. Troops exhumed 3,000 bodies today.

Survivors, horror-struck at scenes they witnessed, told of whole families buried under the collapsing buildings and parents standing helplessly by while their children were crushed to death.

Dazed survivors—children orphaned and women widowed at one stroke—wandered weeping through the ruins seeking missing relatives.

Quetta was fast asleep when the quakes rocked the city, one survivor said. "When it awoke it found most of its citizens trapped under the ruins."

Showers Throat State Predicted By Weatherman

Government Forecaster Says May Was One Of Wettest, Coldest In History

Chicago, June 1.—(P)—A week-end of showers throughout the state was predicted for Illinois today by J. R. Lord, government weather forecaster.

Reviewing the weather conditions for May, the bureau reported it was the third wettest and the third coldest May since the local bureau was established 62 years ago.

May of 1935 tied with those of 1842 and 1892 for the lowest maximum temperature. The highest temperature recorded in fact was 76 degrees. The coldest May on record is that of 1907 when an average temperature of 59.6 degrees was noted. During May of this year the average temperature was 52.1 degrees, which is 5.4 degrees below the normal of 57.5. The second coldest May was in 1917 with an average temperature of 51.5 degrees.

Rainfall for May of this year totaled 5.99 inches, which was 3.55 inches above normal. This figure was exceeded by the May of 1883, which had a total precipitation of 7.32 inches, and 1873, with a total of 7.20 inches. May 12, 1935, however, set an all time record for precipitation, with a total of 2.74 inches for the day.

DIES OF INJURIES

Fort Wayne, Ind., June 1.—(P)—Mrs. P. A. Rising 58, of Evanston, Ill., died here last night of injuries suffered yesterday when the automobile driven by her husband crashed into an abutment on Lincoln highway near here.

Rising sustained several broken ribs.

SEARCH FOR BODY

Metropolis, Ill., June 1.—(P)—Search was continued today for the body of John Lee McCoy, 15-year-old son of Mart McCoy, of Metropolis, who was drowned in the Ohio river late yesterday while wading.

FOUND DEAD

Rockford, Ill., June 1.—(P)—Knute Knutson, 43, veteran Rockford industrial leader, was found dead today of what police said was carbon monoxide poisoning in the garage of his home.

Knutson founded the Rockford Illustrating company and the Rockford Cabinet Works and was a director of many other local industries. He was considered an authority on Swedish history.

MURDER KNOBLAUCH DIES

Metropolis, Ill., June 1.—(P)—Henry Knoblauch, 67, retired, died at his home here today. Death was caused by heart disease.

Liberty or Prison

Three men stood before a court charged with burglary. One of them pleaded with the judge to send him back to prison. He had been released from a reformatory, but had been unable to find a job or to earn an honest living. He asked for a sentence that would keep him long enough for conditions to improve. The judge sent him to the penitentiary for two to five years.

Few good citizens will understand this man's attitude. The majority of people have what is known as claustrophobia, meaning a fear of being confined in prison. To be locked up in a cell while on a visit to the jail gives them a creepy feeling. If they visit a prison they are glad when they get outside the "cold gray walls."

But here is a man who asks to be sent back to prison. He found the outside world too tough, an inhospitable place filled with loneliness and hard luck. He wanted to make sure that the prison doors would close behind him for a good long spell, and that he would be assured of food and shelter, even if he had to lose his liberty.

This man's attitude reflects rather upon society than on himself. We may say he couldn't take it, was lazy, or had no backbone. But he found life hostile, and his experience could be duplicated in the lives of thousands of men who roam about seeking jobs, but are too honest to commit crime and seek refuge in prison. Return to work is the only solution, and society should seek ways and means of multiplying jobs for the unemployed.

Belts Where They Sting

Judge Peter J. Brancato of Chicago says that boys go wrong today because cops wear suspenders instead of belts. He says that when he was a boy officers corrected the waywardness of youth by swinging their belts and hitting where it stung the most. Upon reaching home, the belts were made larger by paternal wrath, and the youngsters were cured of wrongdoings, held back by the fear of consequences.

The judge has given us a new thought, but one that is rather mystifying. It would seem that if the old-time cop used his belt to enforce the law, he would also have needed a pair of suspenders. Boys of that day could run, and a cop who could get close enough to hit hard with a belt would have to be good.

Anyway the judge's idea of corporal punishment is a bit old-fashioned. Youth of today would hardly relish it; they would feel that the police were a bit rough. Parents would complain to the mayor and a cop who swung his belt would lose his job. Things are not what they used to be.

Great Lakes to Reopen

Announcement of the re-opening of Great Lakes Naval Training Station after two years of idleness, is gratifying to people of the mid-west. The station will be reopened July 29 when the first of forty commanding officers will arrive. A peace-time contingent of 1,200 bluejackets will be maintained there.

Activities at the station serve to keep people of the interior in touch with the navy. It is essential that interest in our first line of defense be maintained at a high level, as the improvement of the navy will always be in proportion to public demand for it. The country cannot afford to let its navy lag.

A naval training station near Chicago gives the central states population a pride in the nation's naval strength. There are naval reserves in the National Guard, but it is meaningful to have a real naval station in the middle west.

Short Comment

The Supreme Court didn't believe Gen. Johnson when he said the NRA was dead as a dodo. The Court made sure.

The former dust bowl is now a lake, which proves that Mother Nature sometimes changes her mind rather violently.

Unless half the people favor a law, it is not a success, but the politicians make a good thing of it if the other half violate it.

Japanese Press

From Newsdom
All news items leaving or entering Japan are to be subjected to a governmental censorship. The Nipponese harbor the delusion that a gigantic propaganda machine is seeking to discredit their country internationally and mislead their people through distorted news dispatches.

A press association similar to the Associated Press is to be formed in foreign countries, manned by Japanese correspondents for the benefit of the Japanese press. In this manner, it is felt, Japan will be able to obtain a true picture of what is going on in other countries. And at the same time, foreign correspondents now in Japan will have their news despatches carefully scrutinized before they are put on the cables.

We can understand Japan's motives. Anxious to present herself in the best light, only news favorable to Tokyo will be permitted in or outside of Japan. But the Foreign Office overlooks one point. If the foreign correspondents are not allowed to speak freely they will be forced to smuggle their news beyond the frontier.

It has happened in Italy, Germany and Russia. In all of these countries the impression we obtained from our correspondents was biased. They clearly reflected their resentment to a censorship. They felt that if the government would not give them a free rein to describe the facts as they saw them, they would "get even." And they did.

No one with an open mind could possibly believe that Germany, Russia and Italy are as tragic as they have been painted by some of our reporters. Most of them, it appears, went over there to find the worst, and they did. Their good was necessarily drowned in their own bias.

On the other hand, we think Japan is making a wise move in establishing her own foreign press service. In that manner she should get a true Japanese reaction to current events. Some of our own press services and newspapers too often are content with the dispatches of one whose nationality may be French, British, German or Italian. Their sympathies are deeply a part of their own countries. They interpret the news not from the American viewpoint but from what they believe to be the American viewpoint. Through them we find ourselves unnecessarily involved in Europe diplomacy.

It must be admitted that our own American correspondents are not without sin. They have accepted decorations from foreign governments for prostituting the American press by using it as a medium for foreign parasites who succumbed to France and who are now enrolled among the French Legion of Honor.

Way To Settlement

Senator Millard E. Tydings has proposed an international conference at Washington to deal with all the post-war international problems, ranging from the war debts down to armament reduction and currency stabilization.

While the present state of public opinion in the nations of the world—including our own—may make such proposal premature, it at least indicates the real nature of the problem that confronts us.

Until there is some sensible settlement of these pressing issues, there can be no real return to world prosperity. There may be a whole host of difficulties in the way of such settlement; there are enough headaches in the currency question alone, for instance, to keep statesmen busy for months.

But sooner or later these things

Contrast In Relationships

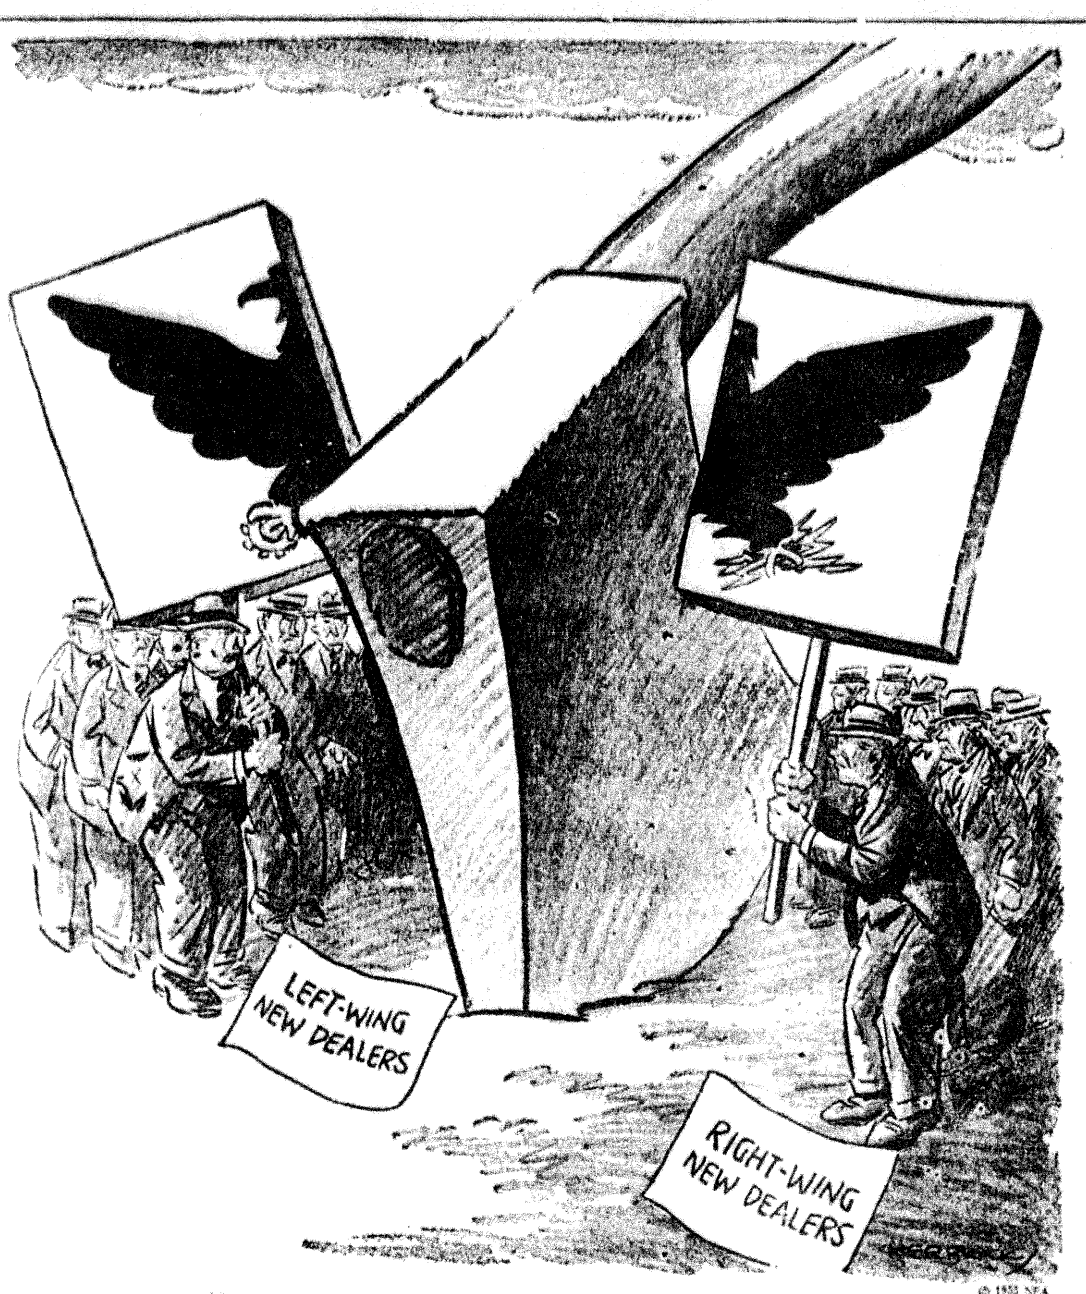

Two strikes were called in the same week in a large midwestern manufacturing city recently.

In one strike there was a superabundance of bad feeling. There were violent clashes at the factory gates; strike leaders and management vied with each other in issuing warlike statements; and conditions outside the factory resembled siege warfare, with platoons of cops ready for action.

In the other strike both management and strikers were calmer. There was no effort to run the plant in defiance of the strikers; pickets had nothing to do, and the few cops present were bored and idle.

The climax came when the president of the company bought some

must be settled, and settled intelligently. It is encouraging, at least, to see a dawning realization of the fact in the United States Senate.

First Reader Lesson

Winston-Salem Journal
Six little boys met on a highway and began throwing rocks at each other. Each had his pockets full of stones. Each little boy was hurt. Everyone was soon bleeding. So they quit for awhile.

But the sixth little boy wouldn't throw away his stones because the fifth one wouldn't.

The fourth little boy wouldn't throw his stones away because the third one wouldn't.

The third little boy wouldn't throw his stones away because the second one wouldn't.

The second little boy wouldn't throw away his stones because the first one wouldn't, and the first one wouldn't throw his stones away because the sixth one wouldn't.

So all kept stones in pocket. When ever they met, a fight generally always occurred. The little boys had such names as I once, Germany, England, America, Japan and Italy.

Schools On Defensive

Dr. Edwin C. Broome, superintendent of schools in Philadelphia, tells the National Society of New England that "there seems to be a country-wide movement" to discredit the school system. On the ground that it is largely responsible for the high cost of government.

The warning is well-timed. Our school system is expensive; granted. It may be that a judicious pruning of the budget here and there would be a good thing. But in the main, the taxpayer gets more for his money in the educational system that he supports than he does in any other single tax-supported venture.

To reduce the cost of government, attack first wasteful and inefficient political control. See that the so-called "honest graft"—as well as the other kind—is eliminated, and that men are elected who will make some effort to do away with favoritism in government.

Strictly adhered to, such program would sharply reduce taxes and still leave us able to support the schools in the style our children deserve.

Behind The Scenes In Washington

It's Sight to Make Strong Men Weep, This Scramble to Pick Up NRA Pieces. . . No Two Agree on Way Out. . . Richberg Forgot to Build His Cyclone Cellar.

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal-Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington — Your correspondent asked a seasoned labor leader who had been mixed up with NRA from the beginning the same question that everybody in Washington seemed to be asking everybody else:

"Well, where do we go from here?"

The labor leader replied promptly: "How old is Ann? Who struck Billy Patterson? What is the meaning of the Einstein theory?"

This dialog is cited because it so well sets forth the composite state of mind of the New Deal, from Papa Roosevelt down the line, following the U. S. Supreme Court's decision in the Schechter case.

Squirrelier Than Ever

One hopes historians will do justice to the period of utter confusion immediately following—and that they will not have to record its continuance.

Some of us previously had been wont to refer to the Washington scene under the New Deal as a "squirrel cage" and if we stick to the analogy we must now record that the "cage" increased its revolutions from 35 to 112 a minute, with occasional sudden reversals of the clockwork to a counter-clockwise movement.

As the New Dealers went into their innumerable huddles, the same gay combination of sincerity, practicality, politics, and nit-witry which characterized the New Deal's beginnings was still to be seen.

But there was far less arrogance and even more confusion. Never were Roosevelt's advisers at odds from so many different directions.

The supreme court had scrambled up a jigsaw puzzle and some of the fellows who were trying to put it together again insisted the court had thrown away most of the pieces. You could find General Johnson Attorney General Cummings, Felix Frankfurter, Donald Richberg, and General Counsel Blackwell in the NRA all with different recipes as to what could be done about Humpty-Dumpty.

Communication

THE H. S. COMMENCEMENT
Editor Journal-Courier:
Will you kindly give me space to correct some historical mistakes given in an utterance at the High School commencement Friday evening?

First—William Thomas—not Frank—was the teacher of the first school in Jacksonville.

Second—In 1850 the West Jacksonville school district erected a three story brick building on the site of the present High School. The first principal was Newton Bateman. This was a grade school till the High School was moved to it in 1888. It was in no sense a modern building. A new building was built about 1900.

Third—This last building was burned March 14, 1918, along with the Trinity church.

Fourth—The present building was first used in the fall of 1921.

An Old Timer.

Block Own Retreat

But it was pitiable to realize that they, the New Dealers, had failed to provide themselves with a path of retreat or any alternative in case the Supreme Court should do exactly what it did. The "sick chicken" case just left in its wake a lot of chickens with their heads cut off.

Donald Richberg had offered to stake his legal reputation on his belief that the court would uphold NRA on the Schechter case.

I don't know anyone here, in fact, who imagined the opinion would be so sweeping.

But the responsibility for the floundering and flopping which followed the verdict seems to rest with Richberg and Roosevelt.

Geoffier and Geoffier

Thirty-six hours after the decision, your correspondent encountered in a popular hotel rectory four young New Deal lawyers who were trying to console themselves while their bosses were in heavy conferences.

They had had several drinks and were trying to figure out a solution to the crisis for themselves. They had got as far as a plan by which Roosevelt would appoint:

Chief Justice Hughes as chairman of the Railroad Retirement Board recently killed by the court, a so-called Justice Van Dantner as commissioner of Indian Affairs, Justice McReynolds as a G-Man, Justice Brandeis as commissioner of internal revenue, Justice Sutherland as sergeant-at-arms of the Senate, Justice Butler as minister to the Irish Free State, Justice Stone as public trustee for holding companies, Justice Roberts as commissioner of patents, and Justice Cardozo as poet laureate.

At that time, anyway, these boys were doing as well with the situation as anyone else.

Ebenezer Prepares to Mark Hundreth Anniversary Soon

Homecoming on June 9th
Will Open Series at Historic Church

The Ebenezer M. E. church, located four miles north of the city, is rounding out its century mark.
One hundred years ago, a society was formed there, with eleven charter members. These sturdy pioneers, who erected there an altar of faith were men and women of character, developed by hardships, privations and barriers, incident to frontier life. There they laid deep the foundations of christianity and of education.

Ebenezer throughout the years has felt the impulse of the forefathers, influenced on one hand by the dauntless, fiery zeal of the unlettered backwoods preacher, Peter Cartwright. On the other hand by the refining influence of the cultured, scholarly Dr. Peter Akers, the real promoter of the church. Dr. Akers donated land for the erection of the meeting house, of two rooms, the room to be used for a school for the training of young preachers. Dr. Akers became the first president of this "Ebenezer Manual Labor School", which was the first Theological Academy in this part of the country.
Dr. McKendree McElfresh, whose parents were charter members of Ebenezer, wrote of Dr. Akers: "Of all the western pioneers who laid the foundations of Methodism, he stands out peerless and in advance of all."

Pretty Ceremony at Bride's Home Joins Well Known Couple

Miss Helen Sturdy Becomes Wife of Walter Sanders Saturday Morning

At a very simple but impressive ceremony Saturday morning at ten-thirty o'clock in the presence of sixty guests, Miss Helen Sturdy, daughter of Mrs. Laura Sturdy of Meredosia Road, became the wife of Walter K. Sanders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sanders of Litchfield, Illinois.
Miss Peggy Sullivan played "On Wings of Song," by Mendelssohn; and Donald Little sang "Beloved, It Is Morn," Alward; and "I Love You Truly," Bond. Then to the strains of "The Bridal Chorus," Lohengrin, the bride party entered the room.
First came Dr. Freeman A. Havighurst, William Swaby who was best man and Walter Sanders.

Little Marianne Ranson who carried the two golden wedding rings upon a taffeta and lace pillow came next and took her place beneath the improvised altar banked with beautiful white flowers in the arched windows. Following her came the maid of honor, Nylene Sturdy, sister of the bride.
The bride descended the stairs and took her place with the wedding party. The bride was attired in a white muslin de soie over taffeta with a double ruffle about the neck and skirt, and a taffeta sash. She wore a short white silk tulle veil with a garland of orange blossoms.
Wears Heirloom Necklace
Encircling her neck was a golden necklace which had been worn by her grandmother and mother on their wedding days. The necklace was presented to the bride's grandmother, Mrs. C. W. Potter, fifty years ago by her parents. The bride carried a showered bouquet of white roses, snapdragons, and babies' breath with a large white bow.
The maid of honor, Miss Nylene Sturdy, wore an apricot organdie over white taffeta. Her bouquet was of Talisman roses and blue delphinium with a blue bow. Marianne Ranson wore a blue organdie. The bridegroom and best man wore dark coats, white flannels and boutonnières.

Reception for Guests
Following the ceremony refreshments were served in the dining room, where Mrs. Gail Ranson and Mrs. Richard Kemper presided at the table. The center piece was white roses in a silver bowl with white lighted tapers in silver bases.
The large white wedding cake, which had a miniature bride and groom decoration, was cut by the guests.
Mrs. Sanders is a graduate of the Jacksonville High school and Illinois College. She was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon literary society and is at present a member of Chi Alpha Sorority.
Mr. Sanders is a graduate of the Litchfield High school and received his college education at Illinois College and Eastern Teachers College at Charleston, Illinois. He was a member of Gamma Nu society and Kappa Phi Sigma fraternity.

The bride's going away outfit was a tailored dark blue suit with white accessories.
Following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Sanders left for a short wedding trip, after which they will go to Charleston, Illinois, for a summer term of school. In the fall they will reside in Litchfield where Mr. Sanders will teach.

INSURANCE MEN PLAN BREAKFAST MEETING ON MONDAY MORNING

The Jacksonville Life Underwriters will hold a breakfast meeting Monday morning at 7 o'clock at the Peacock Inn. The purpose of the meeting is to report the amount of life insurance sold in the county in the last two weeks in May following the close of "life insurance week." It is believed that a large amount of new business will be reported as a result of the interest aroused during life insurance week.

At the Monday morning meeting L. T. Oxley will retire as president of the local association and E. W. Logan will assume the office. Reports will also be heard from delegates to the recent meeting at Rockford of the State Association of Life Underwriters.

The local association now includes practically every life insurance salesman in the community and plans will be made Monday for a campaign of publicity to run through the summer months.

A TEST TO MAKE SURE THAT DAMAGING GUM WILL NOT FORM IN STANDARD GASOLINE

This severe oxidation test is made on samples taken from all Standard gasoline ready for shipment. In this way we make certain that the gasoline has been so stabilized that gum will not form either in transport or in storage. In other words, you can be sure that the gasoline you buy from a Standard Station will not contain harmful gum.

Gum, which forms in some gasolines upon exposure to the oxygen in the air, slowly but definitely cripples an engine. The damage it does is cumulative. It may go unnoticed until the day of reckoning brings a repair bill.

Important though this test is, it is only one of the many final laboratory checks made on Standard's finished gasoline—despite the fact that the motor fuel has passed numerous rigorous tests on its way through the refinery.

This is typical of the lengths to which Standard Oil goes to protect the quality of all Standard products—to make certain that you get full value for your money whenever you deal at Standard Oil Stations or Dealers.

To provide this protection Standard Oil utilizes the full force of its great resources—unmatched in its field in size, unmatched in alertness, and certainly unequalled in the most important resource of all, men—Standard Oil men.

The heritage of every Standard Oil man is public trust, public confidence—in him, in the organization he represents, and in the good products he helps to make and to market.

Expect Legion Band At Kewanee Meet Set for June 15-16

Large Delegation May Go to Division Convention; Held Here in '34

The Jacksonville State Hospital American Legion band is expected to lead the Twentieth district delegation to the convention of the Third division of the Legion and Auxiliary, to be held Saturday and Sunday, June 15 and 16, at Kewanee. Last year the convention was held here and drew a huge crowd on Sunday afternoon when the grand parade was staged.

The championship Collinsville Girls' Drum and Bugle corps and the Orphans' Home band from Normal are also expected to attend the convention and participate in the parade.

A. G. Crump of Barry, division commander, will preside over the business session at 9:30 a.m., Sunday, June 16, the serious part of the two-days of fun-making. Message of State Commander Paul Armstrong will be brought to the convention banquet on Saturday evening at 6:30.

Reservations pouring into Kewanee Post Commander Glen L. Russell and Executive Secretary Byron L. Pierce indicate that Illinois Legionnaires by the thousands will report for this annual get-together of the Third division. Convention officials are prepared to accommodate 20,000 guests at the climax of the convention on Sunday afternoon when the crack drum and bugle corps of the state compete for the $1,500 prize money at Northeast park. Over 5,000 seats will be available for the spectators.

Outdoor boxing show, golf championship of the Third division on the fine Midland Country club links, rifle match, junior Legion baseball between Peoria and Kewanee, and midnight show at the Peerless show comprise the entertainment program for the two days.

Veterans will find the Saturday evening program one to their liking. It opens with the official banquet at 6:30 o'clock. Forty and Eight locomotives, chugging to Kewanee from all sections of Illinois, will fit into the big torchlight parade at 8:30 p.m., fun-making marching of convention. Torchlights will be available for all as the 40-8 rings the welkin of comradeship. At 9:30 p.m. begin the Legion and Auxiliary dance, and 40-8 wreck. The best boxing talent available from Peoria, Quad-cities, Kewanee, and Canton will vie in the outdoor boxing show at 10 p.m. Midnight show with special stage talent is on the program at the Peerless theater.

Business sessions of the Legion and Auxiliary are to be held at 9:30 a.m. Sunday.

The colorful convention parade starts to form at 12:30 p.m. Sunday and will move at 1:30. After marching through the business districts, the drum and bugle outfits will go to Northeast park there to vie in the prize competition.

Ford V-8 Brings Fine-Car Performance Within Your Reach

THE FORD V-8—one of the most important forward steps in the history of the automobile—brings to all the people what was formerly within reach of the few. The V-8 engine had always been known for its outstanding performance, but it was used only in expensive cars. People wanted it—knew it was better. But, few motorists could afford to pay $2000 or more for an automobile.

The principle of the engine was right but the price was prohibitive. Ford decided to get that price down to where more people could have a V-8 car.

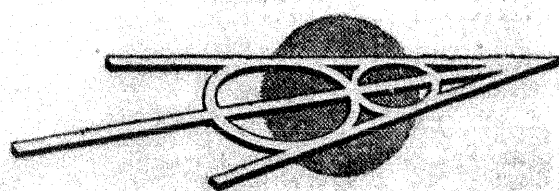

That was the new idea. The V-8 was a new kind of car to fit new times, but the thought behind it was the same... the tested Ford idea of service. The Ford Motor Company simply continued to do the pioneering work that has been its specialty for 30 years and set a new standard of value.

The significance of the Ford V-8 is that now it becomes possible for every one to have a really fine automobile at low cost. Price is not a barrier. Even those who can afford high prices for an automobile are driving the Ford V-8. It is the car of fashion as well as utility.

Today's Ford V-8 gives everything you would like to have in performance, beauty, comfort and safety. As for dependability and economy—the Ford has always been known for that. Today it stands also for the newest, latest developments in automobile building.

Cardinals Take Two From Cubs; Browns Split With Indians

World Champions Take First Game After 12 Innings 4-1; Chicago Errors Lose Second

Chicago, June 1.—(P)—The St. Louis Cardinals picked up a full game on the idle New York Giants and showed the Chicago Cubs down to fourth place today by winning both games of a double header, 4 to 3 in 12 tense innings, and 4 to 1 before the biggest crowd of the Wrigley field season, 20,663.

Paul Dean not only outpointed Lou Warneke in the overtime opener, but scored the winning run. Five Cub errors helped the world champions to all their runs in the second game as Phil Collins outlasted Bill Lee and Fabian Kowalik.

Melillo Trade Is Fine For Bejma

St. Louis, Mo., June 1.—Rogers Hornsby's trade of Oscar Melillo to the Boston Red Sox for outfielder Julius Solters and considerable coin of the realm may have had its melancholy aspect for Oscar's countless admirers among the home-town fans, but it was a break of the right sort for the former most bowler and mouth organ blower of South Bend, Indiana—one Aloysius Frank Bejma, the bouncing utility infielder who has taken over Melillo's job at second base.

Ollie Bejma (it's pronounced "Bee-ma") has been waiting two long years for a chance to break into the regular lineup of the Browns. But with Melillo at second, his chances were far, far between. Every now and then, Oscar turned up with a minor injury that gave the Polish Falcon a chance to bounce around the infield. That's what Ollie does—bounce. He has a knack of making apparently impossible catches. He leaps into the air with all the restraint of a kangaroo who has found a tack in his chair and he is not above diving head first into the dirt for a screaming grounder.

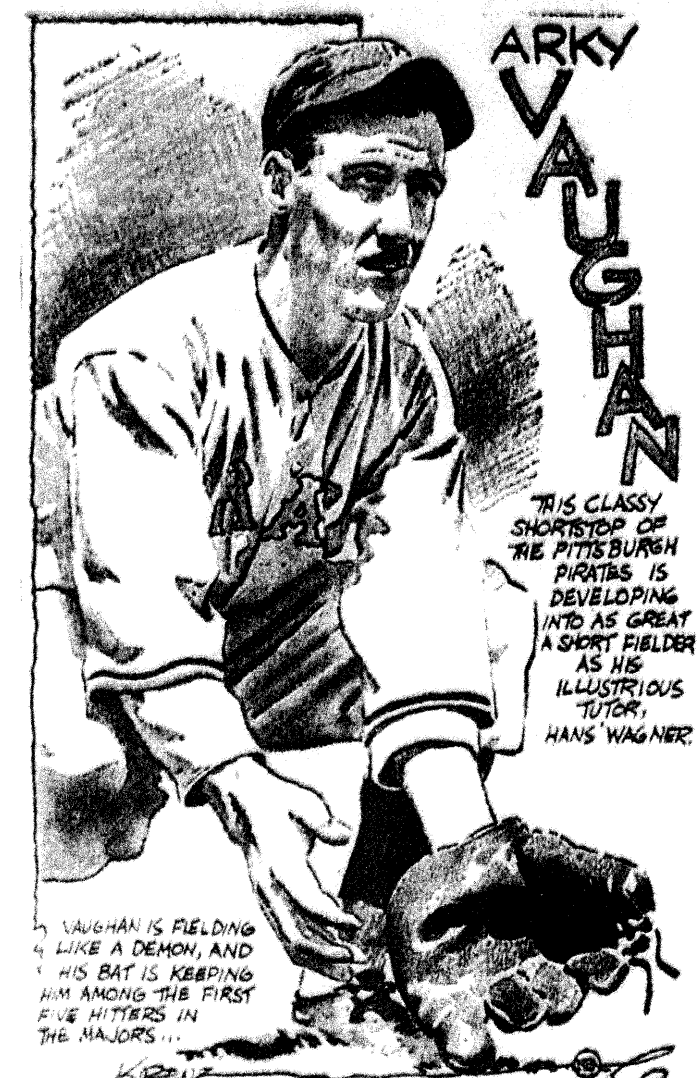

Bejma hasn't been any great shakes as a hitter since arriving in the major leagues, chiefly because he played so infrequently. However, he contrived to arrange a rousing celebration for himself upon breaking into the regular lineup by driving out two home runs in two days at Boston. Both blows provided the margin of victory over the Red Sox, possibly causing the lantern-jawed Joe Cronin to wonder if he had bought the right second baseman.

Bejma was hitting .344 for Quincy, Ill., when he was spotted by Scout Ray Cahill of the Browns. Cahill signed him and routed him to St. Louis via Wichita Falls and San Antonio of the Texas League and Milwaukee of the American Association. Ollie arrived at Sportsman's Park in 1930 and was detoured to Shreveport and Birmingham before his purchase by the Red Sox in 1934. He hit .299 in 101 games for Boston last year.

Ollie Bejma is now only 26 years old—he was born in South Bend, Ind., and still lives there between seasons with his wife and two small daughters. He does dialect imitations rivaling those of the great late Brownie.

Buck Newcomer and entertains his teammates between cities with that mouth organ—bawling is his idea of a good time—he was city champion of South Bend at the age of 17—and he's still the champ—He hit .271, fielded .932 for the Browns last year.

punch he has been looking for. His real name is Solters and is pronounced "Sholtase," but a sports writer got it wrong one time so Julius let it go as "Solters."

Solters is 26 years old, six feet tall, weighs 200. He is of Hungarian descent. He broke into baseball with Fairmount of the Middle Atlantic League in 1927. Advanced to Baltimore in 1930 and was detoured to Shreveport and Birmingham before his purchase by the Red Sox in 1934. He hit .299 in 101 games for Boston last year.

Hood's single with Sporer on third in the tenth inning broke up a ball game Saturday afternoon on the State Hospital diamond, with the Redlegs coming out on top of Pittsfield in a hammer and tong battle 9 to 8. Pittsfield scored two runs in the eighth to tie the score, and got two more in the first half of the tenth to take a lead, but the Redlegs laid the wood to the ball in their half of the tenth to take the decision.

Crimson Netmen Split With B. H. S.

Hamm and Lukeman Win In Doubles In Final Match For Half

Rained out in the morning, Bloomington high netmen came back Saturday afternoon to even the count with Jacksonville high tennis players in a dual match, three matches each. Elmer Lukeman and Bob Hamm, playing the first doubles match, saved the Crimson from defeat when they rallied to win the closing contest in three sets.

In the number one singles contest, Bob Hamm of J. H. S. came from behind to take a thrilling match from Jones of Bloomington by scores of 4-6, 8-6, 6-4. In the second position, Elmer Lukeman, local city champion, disposed of Shirk, Bloomington, in two sets, 6-1, 6-1.

Jacksonville dropped its first match when Green, of the visiting team, defeated Rammelkamp. Jacksonville's number three singles player, by a 6-2, 6-0 score.

Macks Cop Pair From Senators

Philadelphia, June 1.—(P)—The Athletics won both ends of a double header with the Washington Senators before a crowd of approximately 12,000 fans today, taking the first game 5 to 0 and the second 7 to 3.

Whitney Wilshire, star left hander of the A's pitching staff, held the Senators to four hits in the opener, scoring his fifth victory, his third shutout and his second whitewashing of the Senators.

Grand Slam Is Feature Winner

By Charles Dunkley, Associated Press Sports Writer, Chicago, Ill., June 1.—(P)—Grand Slam, juvenile son of Chance Play, carrying the silks of the Boma stable of Detroit, and packing top weight of 122 pounds, conquered a crack band of fifteen two-year-olds to capture the first important two-year-old race in the west this season at Washington park today.

Grand Slam won the Prairie State stakes with a gross value of $1,980 before a crowd of 15,000 spectators. The winner, ridden by Jockey Edgar Legree, who came on especially to ride the colt, paid $7.50 to win, $6.10 to place and $3.50 to show. He sprinted the five and one half furlongs in the ordinary time of 1:07, but was never extended to win. Pursuing the winner at the finish was Miss Diavolo, an extreme outsider in the wagering which paid $35.40 to place and $12.80 to show. That gal was the show horse, with Erin Torch fourth. The entry paid $3.00 to show. By his victory today Grand Slam added $5,120 to his earnings for the year.

White Sox Trim Tigers 5 To 4

Detroit, June 1.—(P)—The Chicago White Sox kept their Indian sign on the Detroit Tigers today, and although outlit, cost Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe his fifth defeat of the season. Ted Lyons went the route for the Sox.

The White Sox got to the Schoolboy in the first inning. With two men out, they bunched three hits and an error charged to Gerald Walker for three runs.

Washington singled, and Bonura doubled off the scoreboard. Goslin misjudged the ball as it headed for the board, and Walker's throw was wild allowing Washington to score and Bonura to land on third. Haas walked and stole second. Applying singled, scoring Bonura and Haas.

Detroit regained the lead in the fourth. Gehringer and Greenberg both singled, Goslin bunted safely filling the bases, and Walker, in his turn singled to score them. Goslin scored on Green's single to right.

Owen's single led in the sixth when Washington, Bonura and Haas singled in order. Washington scoring on Haas' hit. Chicago's last run came in the eighth when Washington singled, Bonura walked and Washington scored on Applying's single.

Jo-Jo White, batting for Rowe in the ninth, got a double to start a rally for Detroit. The Sox tightened down and nipped it at one run before the trying rally could be forced over, however.

Fine Relief Pitching by Ivy Andrews Wins Opener 7-3; Homers Win Nightcap

Yankees Divide With Red Sox

St. Louis, June 1.—(P)—The fine relief hurling of Ivy Paul Andrews gave the St. Louis Browns a 7 to 3 victory over the Cleveland Indians in the first game of a doubleheader today, but the long bat of Earl Averill, who poled two home runs, caused them to drop the nightcap, 4 to 2.

Andrews relieved Dick Coffman in the second inning of the first game and held the Indians to a single run. The Indians used four pitchers and outlit the Browns 13 to 7, but were unable to bunch their safeties effectively. A wild throw to third base in the third by Brenzel, Cleveland catcher, let in two unearned St. Louis runs.

Averill's four-base blows in the fifth and seventh innings of the second game were chiefly responsible for the Indian twilight triumph.

Yankees Divide With Red Sox

New York, June 1.—(P)—A pair of famous left handed pitchers hit the comeback trail today and as a result the Yankees and Red Sox divided a doubleheader. Lefty Grove pitched a six-hit shutout to give Boston the opener while Lefty Gomez showed the Yankees to a 4 to 2 triumph in the afterpiece.

The division of honors enabled the Yankees to retain the American League lead by a one-game margin over the second-place Chicago White Sox. A crowd of 22,424 cash customers turned out for the bargain bill.

Grove, with canny control replacing his speed of former years, let only one Yankee get as far as third base in the opener.

The second game was a more a battle in which George Hockett, Jerry Johnson and Rube Walberg all opposed Gomez and gave only six hits in all, while the Yankee southpaw allowed seven.

Trojans Capture Eastern Meet

By Alan Gould
Associated Press Sports Editor
Cambridge, Mass., June 1.—(P)—Southern California's all conquering Trojans fulfilled expectations today by winning the 1935 Olympic tryouts at Palo Alto, Calif. This spring Graber was credited with clearing 14 feet, 6 inches, but I. C. A. A. officials said today it had been established the take-off for this achievement, at San Barbara, was faulty and no recognition would be sought for it.

Emile Dubiel of Harvard, who upset Brown in the "Big Seven" championship at Princeton three weeks ago, was tied for second place with two Southern Californians, Earle Meadows and Bill Sefton, at 13 feet 9 inches.

Four record-smashing performances were registered altogether, in the finals, marked by a series of upsets, including the dramatic break-down of Columbia's Ben Johnson while leading in the 100-meters dash. Johnson, eastern favorite in both sprints, staggered across the finish in fifth place after pulling a muscle in his right leg and withdrew from the 200 meters.

Rapidly closing in on Johnson at the time of his mishap, George Anderson of California flashed through to win the 100 in 10.7 but was beaten in the record-breaking time in the 200-meter final by Fox Draper of Southern California, whose time of 20.8 seconds was disallowed because of the wind.

Draper had clipped a tenth of a second off the 200-meter dash record, with a 21-second performance in the semifinals, and this was officially accepted. His Trojan team-mate, Phil Cope, captured the 110-meter high hurdles final in the new meet record time of 14.5 seconds, beating out the defending titleholder, Boydoin's Phil Cood, who stumbled over the last barrier while making a great closing bid.

Where Bullets Thudded Knell of Filipino Uprising

This row of bullet-riddled bodies back of a churchyard wall in Cabuyao symbolizes the end of another Philippine uprising, in which the Sakdalistas, a left wing political group, were routed with heavy losses after they had attempted to storm several island towns. Hemmed in by the constabulary, this band fled fighting behind the barricade to which they fled for their last stand, preferring death to surrender.

The remaining meet record went to the credit of a Cornell sophomore, Hamilton Hucker of Buffalo, N. Y. Forced to run an extra semi-final heat in the 200-meter low hurdles to qualify, Hucker stepped it off in 23.2 seconds for a new I. C. A. A. mark and then came back to capture the final in 23.3 seconds, beating three far western timber toppers.

Hemsley Nears Top In American Race

Ducky-Wucky Medwick Enters Charmed Circle During Past Week

New York.—(P)—While the batting leaders of the two major leagues had their hands full maintaining the .400 clips they had set for themselves earlier in the season, the sports of a couple of lesser lights furnished the interest in the clouting race during the past week.

Both of them represented St. Louis clubs. Rolfe Hemsley of the Browns, who couldn't get into the "first ten" in the American League a week ago, had climbed to second place after yesterday's games as he hoisted his average more than 25 points to .352 with 13 hits in 30 times at bat. Joe Medwick of the Cardinals, who had one big day at the plate in Thursday's double-header, added 20 points to his National League average with nine blows in 20 times up.

In contrast the American League leader, Bob Johnson of the Athletics, lost 17 points as he connected safely 12 times in 34 attempts, winding up at .404 and Gerald Walker of Detroit, who had been second to him, dropped 49 points to .336 and seventh place.

Arky Vaughan, Pittsburgh's National League pace setter, hit ten times in 25 attempts, lowering his mark one point to .401.

Willie Kamm Is Given Release

Cleveland, June 1.—(P)—Willie Kamm, veteran third baseman of the Cleveland Indians, was given his unconditional release today.

Announcement of the release was made following a conference between Kamm and Alva Bradley, president of the club.

Bradley said that if Kamm, who was suspended last week by Manager Walter Johnson, does not obtain a position that appeals to him by the middle of next week, he may return to the Indians as a scout under the same salary he was receiving as a player.

Kamm expressed himself as pleased with the release.

He said he had not received an offer from other big league clubs.

Twilight Ball Loop May Organize Soon

With interest held to a minimum by the rainy weather, the much delayed organization of the city Twilight League will begin this Tuesday night at the first meeting of managers interested in forming a league for play this year.

A. D. Hermann, secretary of the Y.M.C.A. who took over the Twilight League situation last year when it reached an impasse, and worked out a plan whereby baseball was assured for the summer, has called a meeting for eight o'clock Tuesday night at Len Masilla's office on East State street, to begin planning for the season.

There has not been much talk of baseball this spring because of the continued rain, but in order to begin a schedule immediately, several interested managers have urged that organization begin immediately.

Just what will be the line-up of teams this year remains to be seen. As far as is known, no managers have been circulating rosters and the personnel of the teams is still much in doubt.

Ernest Smith of Concord was transferring business in Jacksonville yesterday.

1933-34	218,868.86
1934-35 Estimated	218,000.00

Total $2,449,454.42

This amount added to the amount spent for additions to our physical plant, makes a grand total of $3,271,454.40.

When I came to the College, I found the instruction in the hands of scholarly and capable teachers. It has been my endeavor to strengthen the faculty whenever opportunity offered. Ten years ago just one teacher had the doctor of philosophy degree; at present there are nine. Next year there will be eleven.

During the first quarter of the present century there was little change in college curriculum, but about the time I came to MacMurray dissatisfaction with the educational process in our colleges was becoming quite widespread. It was evident that radical changes were about to take place. The general feeling was that departmental barriers, particularly in the upper divisions, were too great, that too many and too great a variety of courses were being given, that too much emphasis was being placed upon credit hours, credit points, and grades, that there was too much academic bookkeeping, that in instruction too much reliance was placed upon the recitation method and the students' ability to reproduce from memory what had been read or heard and too little upon the development of their powers of performance and use effectively what they had memorized or learned, and that the effect of this system upon the students had been to focus their attention upon means rather than ends, on credits and grades rather than knowledge and intelligence, and even at best the whole program had been devised and was operated to develop learners rather than thinkers, to encourage the acquisition of knowledge rather than a proper use of it.

I had these things in mind when I assumed my duties as president. I felt the need of change, but proceeded cautiously. In order to deepen the sense of individual responsibility, attendance at classes for the students above the freshman year was placed on a voluntary basis. Then the requirements for the A. B. degree were slightly modified, chiefly to effect a sharper distinction between elementary and advanced courses and to bring to the attention of every student some of the important problems relating to foods and child nature and to awaken in them an appreciation of the aesthetic values in life. These changes were effected during the first two years of my administration.

In the spring of 1931 special committees of the faculty were appointed to make a careful study of our curriculum and methods of teaching, with a view to making certain changes which would bring us in line with the best educational procedure. A year later, as the result of the labors of these committees, a new plan of study was recommended and adopted, calling for the reorganization of our curriculum and the setting up of new requirements for degrees. This new plan of study involved the following: (1) a reorganization of the curriculum on the basis of divisions rather than departments; (2) replacing majors and minors with fields of concentration; (3) an individual course of study designed for each student on the basis of his concentration; (4) independent work within the concentration for each student, with comprehensive examinations at the end of the course.

The reorganization of the curriculum, the interests of women were especially kept in mind. In addition to these courses in arts, science, and the humanities, which are necessary in any educational program, there were added other courses in such subjects as health, citizenship, homemaking, and the fine and applied arts to which women are best adapted. The degrees offered were reduced to two: Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Music. All students' interests of their special interests, are now obliged to meet the requirements set up for the A. B. degree except those concentrating in music for whom the B. M. degree is reserved.

Of course, there is nothing final about this arrangement. The Curriculum Committee and the Committee on Methods of Teaching are still actively engaged in studying ways and means of improvement. We are going forward, experimenting here and there, and expect to modify our plan still further. However, it is the unanimous opinion of the faculty that the changes we have already adopted have been beneficial. We have gone far towards the realization of our aim to develop initiative and responsibility on the part of the students.

In the late spring of 1931 our college was surveyed by some educational experts under the direction of the Board of Education of the Methodist Church. The chief value of this survey was that it gave us an objective view of the operations of the College and helped us to formulate our aims more definitely. In my annual report to the Board at the close of the academic year 1931-32 I quoted a number of statements from the survey, indicating the excellence of the educational work at MacMurray. I repeat herewith a few of these statements:

"MacMurray College is unique among the group of Methodist institutions in the Middle West in being the only college maintained exclusively for women students. It is the judgment of the survey staff that an institution of this type has a real place in the educational program of the Church in this region. The excellence of the work of MacMurray College is attested by the recognition held from state, regional, and national accrediting agencies. The College holds the highest type of accreditation possible for an institution of its class.

"In recent years there has been a steadily increasing enrollment at MacMurray College. The institution has shown a good growing power for students and it attracts an unusually large percentage of students from a distance of more than one hundred miles. There is every indication that the institution is satisfactorily located for the type of service it is rendering.

"The Board of Trustees on the whole seems interested in the work of the institution. Attendance at board meetings has been good and at least one member of the Board has made very generous financial contributions to the work of the College. The Board has taken a commendable view of its own functions and has not attempted in any way to interfere with the internal administration of the College. The institution is in the hands of a capable administration which has evidenced a real vision regarding the place and function of a woman's college in the Middle West.

"Recent developments in the physical plant have been most encouraging. The new science building would be a credit to any college and shows a commendable foresight in the planning and in the details of construction. The new dormitory, Jane Hall, is one of the finest ever seen by members of the survey staff. In this building the students have unusually comfortable living conditions. The beauty and convenience of the new dining hall and kitchen have also added materially to the campus life. Wide provision has been made for gradual extensions of the campus.

"The science laboratories are spacious and well equipped, and all needed facilities for instruction in subjects undertaken seem to be provided. The library is being capably administered, although the book collection is not as large as is desirable.

"There is a conservative development of subject matter offerings at MacMurray College. The error of an over-extensive development of offerings, so commonly found at other institutions, is not at all marked at MacMurray College. On the other hand, the offerings in fields of special interest to women have been well developed. Especially commendable provision is made in such fields as home economics, art and music.

A well trained instructional staff has been employed, and the faculty is unusually well organized in terms of academic ranks, with a conservative use of the higher ranks. The teaching loads of faculty members have not been allowed to exceed the maximum set as a standard by the accrediting associations. A few of the faculty members have contributed rather widely to published scholarly literature.

The cost per student is relatively high, a fact which is usually associated with a good academic program. The College is to be congratulated upon the distribution of funds among the various educational functions, the percentage which goes to direct instructional activities being comparatively high.

One of the items of our proposed development program was a new library building. While we have not yet been able to secure this building, we have given a good deal of attention to our library, and although we have been unable to afford to buy as many new books as we desired, yet it is gratifying to know that 10,000 volumes have been added during the past ten years.

Since 1930 we have held annually an Institute on Public Affairs which, in my opinion, has been of great educational value. The subject of the first three Institutes was Pan American Relations and the last three have been held on the following subjects: The Present Economic Crisis, The New Deal, and Peace and War. To these Institutes have come some of the most important lecturers who have brought to our students new light on some of the important social, political, and economic issues of the day. We have Mr. Chester D. Pugley to thank for the first three Institutes and Mr. Chester A. Smith for the last three. We hope that these Institutes will continue indefinitely and so become a permanent and vital part of our educational life.

From year to year throughout each academic year, noted lecturers on various vital themes have been brought to the campus. Some of the best known are as follows: Will Durant, Robert Andrews Millikan, Bruno Rossi, John Addams, Sir Wilfred Grenfell, Vachel Lindsay, Carl Sandburg, Padraic Colum, Louis Untermeyer, Forbes Watson, George (A. E.) Russell, Captain Donald MacMillan, Upton Sinclair, Sir Norman Angell, Major Francis Yeates-Brown, Harry Overstreet, Bertrand Russell, Clyde Fisher, J. W. Thompson, Stuart Chase, Wood Eddy, Knight Dunlap, Colonel Raymond Robins, Alan Monkhouse, Madame Bonafide, and Dhan Gopal Mukerji. Other interesting features of the Lecture and Entertainment Course have been the Ruth Page ballet, the Kennedy Players, Tony Sarg Marionettes, Cornelia Otis Skinner, Ted Shawn Dancers, and Carol Goya, dancer. In addition, there have been several art exhibits.

Among the religious leaders who have brought messages to our students are Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes, Bishop William F. McDowell, Bishop Francis J. McConnell, Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf, Bishop Ernest G. Richardson, Bishop William F. Anderson, Bishop H. Lester Smith, S. Parkes Bond Fisher, Charles Whitney Gilkey, William S. Bernard, Julian S. Wadsworth, Raymond Russell, King D. Beach, Roy L. Smith, Albert E. Bunker Coe, Dan B. Brummitt, Merle N. Engle, Clyde L. Hay, and W. E. J. Gratz.

Under the auspices of the Conservatory of Music many noted artists have appeared, among them being Forest Lamont, Duncan Robertson, Virgil Lamont, Chase Baromea, Frances Ingram, Lorna Doon, Ratan Dey, vocalists; Maurice Dumouss, George Lieblich, Ralph Leopold, Raymond Harris, Leo Podolsky, Cecile de Horvath, Stell Anderson, Silvio Scionti, pianists; Joseph Bonnet, T. Tertius Noble, James Gillette, organists; also Alberto Salvi, harpist; Jaroslav Gons, cellist; the Zoellner String Quartet, the Hartman String Quartet, the Liege String Quartet, the Muenzer Trio, the Orlowson Trio, the Little Philharmonic Orchestra, the Russian Cossack Chorus, the Slaviansky Chorus, and the opera, The Willow Tree, with Charles Wakefield Cadman, composer at the piano.

In March, 1933, the Conservatory of Illinois College was merged with our College of Music and formed what is known as the Illinois Conservatory of Music which has really been a part of our college. While this merger has justified itself in that it has eliminated competition between the two local colleges in the field of music, yet, financially, it has not been of advantage to the students. In September, 1929, a School for Little Children was started and has been in operation ever since. This school has been of great value to a number of our students who have been preparing to teach kindergarten.

Last year we held the first session of our Summer School. It was a great success. It is expected that this will be a permanent institution on our campus.

During the past four or five years it has been our pleasure to entertain several organizations on our campus; namely, the Annual Convention of the 44th District of Rotary International, the State Postmasters' Association, the Illinois Annual Conference, the Mid-West Conference of International Relations Clubs, the Federation of Illinois Colleges, the 20th District Convention of the American Legion, the G. A. R. and affiliated patriotic organizations.

One of the notable events of the past ten years was Dr. Harker's autobiography, Eventide Memories. This interesting book, revealing a personality unique in intellectual power, in practical sagacity, and in spiritual vision, was received with enthusiasm by a wide circle of readers and readers, an enduring record of Dr. Harker's contribution to the building of this college.

The scholastic standards of our college have always been high. There was a very positive tradition of academic excellence in this institution when I arrived upon the scene. I am glad to report that in the years that have just passed we have been true to that tradition. Our students know that while there is a full program of extra-curricular activities for them to engage in, they must make their studies and that poor or careless work is never condoned. Again and again the statement is made that we require more work of our students than other colleges. This is sometimes said by way of complaint, but, after all, the students as a whole respect the faculty for their exacting attitude and are proud of our reputation for educational excellence.

I think it can be truthfully said we have, to use a phrase of St. Paul, "maintained the spiritual glow." In my inaugural address I said: "It is upon the spirit of our college, together with the personal influence of our professors, that we must rely chiefly for results in moral and spiritual training. To have right conduct, as well as reverence for God, implicit in the corporate life of the College, is, however, more than to give formal teaching in ethics and religion. That every girl who comes to us, from whatever environment, shall be not only restrained from evil, but also prompted toward good, shall be our constant care."

Religion in college is as necessary as anywhere else. Jesus Christ has been at the center of our life on the campus. His ideals have ever been before us, and I think the accounts for the fact that our students have been so free from some of the vices which have been characteristic of great bodies of students in our large universities who have been so much led or influenced by religion.

In 1930 the name of the College was changed from Illinois Woman's College to MacMurray College for Women. This change was made in honor of our first president, Mrs. MacMurray, who was one of our first students. Naturally, some of our alumni were opposed to the change, but, on the whole, I think even they came to feel that it was for the best interests of their college and they have remained loyal. Looking back, I, for one, am sure that the change was providential and I can not see that it has done any harm.

Time enough has now elapsed for those of us who are vitally interested in this of accounts to the new name, and we realize that the College has not lost its identity, its history, its ideals, or its spirit.

It is customary for people today to look back upon the period from 1925 to 1929 as one of prosperity. The fact is, however, that in this agricultural region those were not prosperous years. Crops were not good. Prices were declining, and the cost of living was high. Of course, the financial crash of 1929 and the depression which followed had a devastating effect upon farm values and incomes. For the College the last five years have been financially very difficult. The market value of our endowment investments has shrunk considerably as has also the income from them. There has also been a decline in income from students' fees. Accounts have been hard to collect. Our notes receivable have increased, and while interest has been paid on most of them, there has been little payment of principal. But about fifteen months ago, thanks to Mr. MacMurray, we got rid of all indebtedness and have not incurred any since. Altogether, our financial condition today is excellent.

This report is already long, but I must now review briefly the year 1934-35.

One of the outstanding events of the year was the inauguration of the Summer Session last June. The registration was surprisingly large for the first session, there being 83 regular students and 20 special. At the close of this session the students expressed themselves as not only satisfied with the instruction given, but enthusiastic over it. They said that the school should be held annually and that they would do everything they could to help it prosper. Encouraged by the success of the first session of the summer, it will be held from June 10 to July 19. The faculty and the subjects taught will be as follows: Education, Professor O. P. Galloway; English, Professor Annabel Newton; History and Social Sciences, Associate Professor George W. Adams; Psychology, Professor Isabel C. Stewart; Religion, Rev. McKendree M. Blair; Science, Associate Professor Elizabeth A. Origer; Secretarial Education, Miss Annabel Crum and Miss Mary Dailey; Music, Professor H. W. Pearson, Mr. W. Z. Fletcher, Miss Lulu Hay and Mrs. Clara Moore Nelson. It is expected that there will be at least as many in attendance as last year.

The registrar's report shows a total registration of regularly enrolled college students last fall of 364. In addition, there have been 186 students in the Conservatory of Music, 25 in the Kindergarten, and 113 in the Summer School, or a grand total of 688. These students came from 15 states and one foreign country. The largest number of students came from Illinois, a total from 10,000 to 25,000 inhabitants. In the list of occupations of the fathers of the girls, the farmers lead all the others, the number being 75; next to the farmers come the merchants of whom there are 39. About one-half of the students are Methodists.

The faculty during the past year have done fine work. They have inspired the students and have participated earnestly in all the activities of the College. MacMurray was signally honored last winter when Professor Mary Johnston was awarded a bronze medal by the Italian government in recognition of her rewriting of "The Private Life of the Romans."

There will be few changes in our faculty next year. Two heads of departments are leaving. As it happens, both of them served but one year. They are Acting Professor Quintin M. Lyon, of the Department of Philosophy and Religion, and Acting Professor Anne Louise Ervin, of the Department of Physical Education. In the place of Dr. Lyon we have engaged Dr. Herbert J. Lennox who has the M. A. degree from Northwestern University, the B. D. degree from Garrett Biblical Institute, and the Ph. D. degree from the University of Chicago. In the place of Miss Lyon we have engaged Miss Katharine G. Watson who has the B. S. degree from the University of Wisconsin, the M. A. degree from Columbia University, and will receive her Ph. D. degree from New York University next month. In the Music Department, Mr. A. Lee Freeman, who has been instructor in public school since leaving, is leaving. He has been on a part-time basis, giving about half his time to the college. His successor has not yet been selected. Arrangements for his successor have not been completed.

It is probable that we shall have to engage one or two additional instructors, but this will depend upon how the registrations come in during the summer.

This year's graduating class has tied answers to a questionnaire. One of the questions was, "What do you think the best lesson about MacMurray?" A majority of the students answered by saying, "The Institute on Public Affairs." As I have already indicated, the subject of this year's Institute was Peace and War. The speakers were Dr. H. C. Engelbrecht, author of "Merchants of Death," Charles F. Eichenauer, editor of the Quincy Herald-Whig, Captain F. A. Metcalf, of the United States Army, Edward A. Hayes, National Commander of the American Legion, Mrs. Dorothy Dwyer, Executive Secretary of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, and Dr. Sherwood Eddy. The subjects discussed were "Merchants of Death," "What is America's Minimum Defense Needs?" "Peace Advocate," "Professed Christian, Interested Legionnaire, Disillusioned Realist," "Am I Square or Scrambled?" "World Propaganda," "Promote Peace or War in America?" "The War Budget," and "The World's Danger Zones." There was a question box period during which the speakers answered questions submitted to them by persons in the audience. At the last session of the Institute there was a debate between the students of MacMurray College and Illinois College on the question of government monopoly of the armament industries. In all of the armament industries, in all my experience I have never seen a keener interest in a discussion of current issues than was shown in this year's Institute.

One of the notable events of the year was a visit from Dr. Robert L. Kelly, Executive Secretary of the Association of American Colleges, February 4. He spent a day and night with us. He came with our faculty in morning and afternoon sessions to consider some of the leading educational problems of the day. No one is better qualified by reason of long years of experience both as a college president and as executive of the Association of American Colleges to give wise counsel on such matters than Dr. Kelly. His messages brought insight and inspiration. In the evening we entertained the faculty and administrative staff of Illinois College for dinner in the college dining hall, after which Dr. Kelly addressed the combined groups on the subject, "Building the College Curriculum."

For some time we have been aware that many of the furnishings of our bedrooms in Main and Harker Halls needed to be replaced. This has been especially noticeable since the erection of Jane Residence Hall with its fine new equipment, but we have been without funds to remedy the matter. However, during Mr. MacMurray's visit to the College last January, I called his attention to this condition and his immediate response was a check for $2,500. He later wrote me that he would give another $2,500 provided a like amount was contributed by other friends. In estimating what ought to be done, it soon developed that a minimum of $10,000 was needed, and so an effort has been made to secure that amount, which means $5,000 in addition to Mr. MacMurray's contribution. While the returns are not all in, I am glad to report that the goal will be reached and we shall be able to spend at least $10,000 this summer in making our older dormitories more livable and attractive. I should like to have a committee of three of the alumnae trustees appointed to look over these rooms and confer with me regarding just what should be done with the fund which has been provided.

Through Miss Rachel Hall we received a gift of $1,100 from the estate of Mrs. Christina Armstrong for the renovation of our kindergarten room, including additional equipment. This department of our work is now in excellent condition, under the capable supervision of the director, Miss Dorothy Cannon.

Another gift of unusual importance came from Mrs. Wallace N. Stearns, consisting of about 1,000 volumes from Professor Stearns' library. Most of these books are in the field of philosophy and religion. They are well chosen and form a valuable addition to our library.

The total amount of the gifts to the College has been $24,326.68. It is with deep regret that I record the death of Mrs. Lillian Woods King, of the Class of 1879, on January 11. For many years Mrs. King was an interested and active member of the Board of Trustees. For two and a half years prior to her death she served as matron of Jane Hall. She was a woman of great sweetness and nobility of character, and we miss her sorely. On December 2, 1934, Mrs. Alice Abbott McCarty, of the Class of 1900, passed away. She was the beloved wife of our trustee, Dr. F. A. McCarty. Always a loyal alumna of the College, she was active in furthering its interests. In all of her relationships in life she almost perfectly represented the spirit of the Master. To Dr. McCarty we extend our heartfelt sympathy.

The prospect for the future development of the College is bright. For myself, I feel much more confident of success than I did when I assumed the Presidency ten years ago. My coming coincided with the end of the war-boom period, which was also the period of successful drives for philanthropic institutions. I remember vividly how the feeling came to me that I could never hope to equal the remarkable record of President Harker. But I was here and was bound to try. I was still controlled by the conviction which had come to me twenty years before, when I abandoned a business career in New York. That if my abilities, such as they were, were dedicated to God, they could and would be used by Him in some special way to advance His kingdom. To some this may seem just a romantic notion, but to me it was vastly more. Up to then I had been led in strange and unexpected paths, but not without some measure of success, and I could not but believe that I could be useful to this institution. Well, thank God, 1925 was not the end of the progress of our college. We have gone ahead since then. If my power had been equal to my will, I should have served you better, but, after all, that is not the most important thing. The best of all is, God is with us, and we are all friends cooperating in a worthy cause. Let us go forward believing that the best is yet to be. For all you have done to sustain by leadership and to make my family and me comfortable and happy, I am deeply grateful.

Respectfully submitted,
Clarence Paul McClelland.

KIDNAPED BOY RETURNED TO HIS PARENTS

uncle paid the ransom shortly before his release.

"Your Pa will pick you up," George said as he was told as he was let out on the road about four miles from Issaquah.

For hours George walked in the darkness, he told Dreher, until his shoes were sodden and "squishy." George said he thought he walked about six miles before he saw a farm house.

Plodding up to its door he knocked and the farmer, Boniface, opened it.

"The little boy who was kidnapped," George told the farmer.

Fed and clothed, and his feet encased in the shoes of the farmer's daughter, George was bundled up and started for home in the farmer's automobile.

When Boniface telephoned frantically to Tacoma and could not get a connection with the John Phillip Weyerhaeuser home, he finally had the call put through to the Tacoma police, to whom he told the startling news that George was safe.

Dreher and his charge reached the Weyerhaeuser home at 7:45 a. m.

At one time George was taken to the bank of a river and feared, he said, he might be thrown into the water. When he expressed his fear, he said, one of his captors assured him cheerfully:

"Don't you worry, kid, you're worth too much to be thrown away!"

As if by telepathy, the news spread through Tacoma, ending the eight-day watch of local, state and federal officers, friends, an army of newspaper writers and the general citizenry.

Government men, now unleashed, set in motion the most elaborate man-hunting machinery ever assembled in the west. Sheriff's police and state patrol officers throughout the region took up the hunt.

Dreher said the boy identified three of his captors as "Harry" Bill, and Alvin—who must be that Karpis fellow."

Ever since the boy was kidnapped, the army of federal, state, and city officers have been attempting to connect members of the Alvin Karpis gang, sought for the kidnaping of Edward G. Bremer at St. Paul, Minn., with the Weyerhaeuser abduction.

Many witnesses said they had seen members of the Karpis gang in Tacoma at various times during the past year and even last week-end during the Weyerhaeuser abduction.

DRAMATIC CLUB
PLAY PRESENTED
AT MACMURRAY*Large Audience Enjoys "The Bluffers" Saturday Evening

A large audience enjoyed the MacMurray College Dramatic Club play, "The Bluffers," Saturday night in the college gymnasium, following the college banquet and candle lighting service.

A cast of talented players, under the direction of Mrs. Macian Chas. Schaeffer, made this play one of the most outstanding productions given by dramatic groups in the city. It is a two act comedy adapted from the well known French play, "Dust in the Eyes."

The part of Madame Malingear was splendidly taken by Helen Wright, who has won many admirers in Jacksonville and vicinity in other productions, as well as in the play of the evening. The part was taken with skill and emotional talent. The supporting members of the cast acted with finish and splendid characterization.

The two leading men's parts taken by Miss Mary Daley and Miss Rosalind Boland, showing excellent interpretation were difficult in their portrayal as character studies and were especially well done. Emmeline, the daughter of Monsieur and Madame Malingear, was gracefully presented in quiet serenity by Evelyn Guker. Leone Milward took the character of Frederick, the son of Monsieur and Madame Ratinois, showing a pleasing personality, depicting the changing moods with talent.

Madame Ratinois, (Mrs. Williams), and the other parts taken by the supporting cast, displayed talent and maintained the high standard of other performances given at MacMurray College. The characters were cleverly presented bringing out the humor throughout the scenes. The brilliant eighteenth century costumes and furniture made a fitting setting for an exceptionally fine production. The costumes and setting was under the direction of Miss Dorothy Remley.

The story of the play concerns the ambitions which some middle class French parents have for the marriage of their daughter and son into the higher social class, and the maneuvers and bluffing they have to go through in order to satisfy their desires. The scenes are in the homes of Dr. Malingear and the Ratinois. The scenes of the characters afford clever repartee with interesting touches of human psychology.

The play has many scenes showing that pretenses are merely "Dust in the Eyes" and are not worth the difficulties the family has gone through to hold them.

The cast and the committees arranging this annual event were:

Monsieur Malingear, Doctor—Mary Daley.
Madame Malingear—Helen Wright.
Emmeline, their daughter—Evelyn Guker.
Sophie, their cook—Carol Whitman.
Alexandrine, their maid—Katherine Keeling.
Upholsterer, their "little seventeen"—Phyllis Patchen.
Footman, their neighbor—Katherine Wiswell.
Monsieur Ratinois, confectioner, retired—Rosalind Boland.
Madame Ratinois—Mrs. Williams.
Frederick, their son—Leone Milward.
Robert, their uncle—Helen Croxall.
Josephine, their maid—Katherine Goutley.
Footman, their neighbor's—Ruth Walton.
Chef, from Cheever's—Myra White.
A Negro boy in livery—Hazel Thompson.
Stage Manager—Sue Schaeffer.
Stage Crew—Meredit Storr.
Frances Batchelder, Hazel Thompson, Virginia Ellis.
Property Chairman—Loetta Hallock.
Property Crew—Elizabeth Lumley, Virginia Nichols, Marjorie McConnell, Eileen Kincaid, Bonita Lyons.
Lighting—Oliver Young, Thyras Smith, Mildred Schellenberger.

Many alumnae returned here for the commencement exercises and class reunions at MacMurray college. Among the gatherings planned by the classes were the following: Class of 1905 arranged by Mrs. Alice Applebee; Class of 1920 arranged by Mrs. Ruth H. Hunt; Class of 1927 arranged by Miss Mary Johnston; Class of 1929, arranged by Bertha Swearingen; Class of 1931, Frances O'Donnell.

Miss Eleanor Chapin was in charge of the 1933 class reunion and Miss Roberts Steinman planned the gathering of the class of 1934. Miss Mary Anderson, class adviser was in charge of the reunion for the class of 1925, and Mrs. Eleanor Beeton Putnam planned the 1935 reunion.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. BERTHA A. IRLAM

The years of woman are the looms of God.
Let down from the place of the sun.
Wherein we are weaving always,
Till the mystic web is done.
And when the task is ended
And the web is turned and shown,
We shall hear the voice of the Master.
It shall say to us, "Well done."

Bids on Buildings for CCC Quarters Here to Be Received by June 15

Bids for construction of buildings at the site of the CCC camp in Jacksonville will be received prior to June 15, Captain H. Kirsner of the U. S. Army announced during a business visit here Friday. Captain Kirsner came from Jefferson Barracks to make preliminary arrangements for the camp, which when completed will house 250 CCC enrollees.

The army officer said preference will be given to local builders and labor in erecting the buildings. It is expected that Jacksonville building contractors and material dealers will be furnished with specifications within a short time.

Several barracks and an administration building will be erected on the tract on Caldwell street, leased by the government as a camp site. The tract of several acres lies on the west side of Caldwell near Walnut street.

The Jacksonville camp personnel will be assigned to erosion projects in Morgan county. Hundreds of acres of land in this community now subject to erosion will receive attention. Continuation of the camp is assured for at least two years.

The body is at the Gillham Funeral Home.

Council Discusses Plant Improvement

An informal meeting of the city council was held Friday night in order that the new members might become familiar with plans for the improvement of the water plant. Alex Van Praag of Decatur, member of the engineering firm of Watson & Van Praag, who have drawn the plans, was present to explain what has been done thus far.

He went over the matter step by step, giving a detailed explanation of the project from its inception to the present time. The plans call for the expenditure of $130,000 to improve the water plant by the installation of new power units and enlargement of settling basins. The plans call for diesel engines to operate the pumping machinery.

The council members asked questions and discussed the proposals of the engineer. No action was taken.

It had already been decided to let the matter come to a vote in a special election on June 11, as previously provided by ordinance.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

KATHARINE STRYKHURST, beautiful, 20, became acquainted with MICHAEL HEATHCOTE, riding teacher, and acknowledged an unusual attraction toward him. She is a girl of the progress of an affair between ZOE PARKER, her best friend, and her father, of whom Zoe's parents disapprove.

Katharine and DR. JOHN KAYE, friend of the Strykhurst family, take Zoe to a night club where she sees Gibbs with a notorious woman. Zoe threatens to kill herself.

That same night Michael is inveigled into taking SALLY MOON, local coquette, to the same place. Sally, arriving home late, informs her father that she and Michael are engaged. Dr. Kaye works hard to save her life and succeeds.

Katharine says Michael is going to marry Sally and is brokenhearted. She longs to get away from home. Her friend, VIOLET MERSEY, believes Katharine has ability as an artist and encourages her to develop this talent.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXI

"YOU'RE so stuffy," Sally pouted. "Other men I know would jump at the chance. Why, if you took this job from Father we could be married right away."

"I know," Michael said. "But you see, I'm an outdoor man. Always have been."

"Here's what I think, Michael," Sally put her head on one side, looking like a plump, bright-eyed and extremely knowing bird.

"You're a simperton. That's what you are, really, not to grab the chance. First thing you know, people would forget about the riding business."

"They'd be forgetting you," she said. "You're a simperton."

She had gone too far, and she knew it. Red crept up in his lean cheeks; the slate-colored eyes sparkled dangerously.

"Not that it matters, of course, what all these dodges think..." They were in the overstuffed comfort of the Moon living room, all fat red couches and taffeta pillows and stiff carved chairs.

An ornate lamp shed an effulgent glow on the wall, and a small, up little girl fashion in one corner of the deepest couch and played with Michael's fingers.

"Love me, darling?" He had to answer this question half a dozen times a day, for Sally had the instinct of possessiveness enormously developed. She needed to be reassured. Michael Heatherstone, with his engagement three weeks old, told himself over and over again that of course he loved the little thing. It would be less than decent to refuse her the affection she demanded.

The night she had so surprisingly told her father that they were to be married, Michael had quite simply failed to find words to refute the statement. Anyhow, in his code, this was one of the things you did not do.

The lady was always right. Dimly in the memory of his childhood, was one illuminated picture. His father, smiling gently at a fair-haired woman in a blue dress. His father's voice, saying, "Always remember that, son. The lady is always right."

That must have been his mother. And yet he had been told, so many times, that he couldn't possibly remember his mother.

Anyhow it was pleasant. It was enormously flattering to have Sally Moon in love with him. No one else had been particularly friendly to him in this new place.

THERE had been a moment—a day, perhaps—when he had encertained dreams of that slim, fair-haired girl whose dark blue eyes seemed to carry a message to him. But that had been madness.

But that had been madness. But that had been every place with that doctor chap from the city.

"They're both sticks," Sally had said to Michael, cuddling against his shoulder. "Now you and I, Michael, we're real people—we hate love and scratch and bite when we're angry. Don't you hate violently, Michael? I hope you do, because I'm a regular little spitfire. I warn you."

She loved to talk about herself—her tastes, her opinions. Michael did not really listen to all of it. Often he found his thoughts wandering to Katharine Strykhurst.

He had passed her on Main Street only yesterday. For a split second he had thought she was going to stop and talk to him. But with a cool bow she had passed on.

"Yes, I am. I heard every single word."

"Father's really pleased about our engagement," Sally went on. "He pretended at first he wasn't, but he was. Then he decided he was glad I was settling down. I've always had so much attention—he was afraid I might run off and do something really crazy. You remember that orchestra leader I told you about down at Miami last year?"

Michael remembered. "Well, and he thinks you're pretty fine, Michael, honestly. Kiss me," she demanded suddenly, greedily, ending the discussion as she always ended it.

But he would not go into the bank, her father's bank, to please her. He would not go with her to the country club or the yacht club or the swimming pool until he had proved himself. She could coax and pout as she would. Michael knew this much. A man had to be the master. He had to have the last word.

Dimly Sally recognized this strength, respected it, even while she attempted to tear it down.

"He's a match for you," fat Joseph Moon said, with his wide smile. "I don't care what the town people say, whether the old tabbies say you're getting a roughneck or what, he's a man."

SALLY tossed her head. "There's all jealous, that's what they are."
